RELAUNCHING CREATIVITY

APRIL 25, 2026

AN EXHIBITION THAT GIVES VOICE

An exhibition showcased the artworks created by the women in the project.

Many participants spoke about their pieces and used this opportunity to share their experiences and raise awareness about important issues such as precarious living conditions, safety, and the daily challenges faced by women in vulnerable situations.

Art becomes more than expression - it becomes a voice for change.

OPENING DOORS, BUILDING COMMUNITY

The event welcomed visitors from outside the project who joined the workshops and explored the exhibition.

These meaningful exchanges helped strengthen connections and build understanding.

New women living in the CHRS also discovered the project and showed great interest in joining.

On April 25th, the Women's Voices project was beautifully relaunched through a day of creativity, sharing, and connection.

Participants, new faces, and visitors came together to express themselves, learn from one another, and celebrate the power of art and community.
